

Nature has bestowed the beautiful capacity to procreate a life within women, and every woman cherishes the experience of motherhood. Unfortunately, some women, due to certain physiological conditions, can not give birth to their own offspring. The desire for motherhood leads them to search for alternative solutions, and surrogacy presents itself as the most viable alternative.

If you are living in California and looking for a surrogacy agency to plan a baby for your family, this article is quite useful.

What is Surrogacy?

Surrogacy is the practice whereby a woman (the surrogate mother) carries a child for another person and (usually) that person's partner (the commissioning couple) as the result of an agreement prior to conception that the child should be handed over to them after the birth.

The surrogate mother may be the genetic mother—i.e., her own egg was used to create the embryo—or she may have had a fertilised embryo implanted in her, in which case she will not be genetically related to the child. These situations are sometimes referred to as, respectively, "partial" surrogacy and "host" or "full" surrogacy.

How much can a surrogate earn in California ?

For surrogates, joining a surrogacy agency can be a great prospect to earn additional money for their families. Surrogates are paid to carry a baby for someone else. In California, the base compensation price range is $40,000–$45,000, depending on where the surrogate lives and whether or not the surrogate has insurance. However, an experienced surrogate can earn as much as \$55,000.

How much does surrogacy cost in California?

One of the first questions intended parents ask is how much does surrogacy cost in California?

Surrogacy in California can be expensive. There are lots of factors that affect the costs in various stages of the process that can add up. In total, the entire process can cost around $120,000 to $170,000 depending on many factors. Although the investment is large, the output is a well-deserved baby. You have been waiting for it for a long time. Some of the main things that affect the surrogacy cost are: surrogate compensation, surrogate attorney, insurance cost, surrogate agency fees, the cost of In-Vitro Fertilization, and your fertility clinic's cost. California IVF can cost around $20,000-$30,000 depending on where your fertility clinic is located. This will usually include the cost of one round of medical treatment for the surrogate.

The expenses can shift incredibly either up or down contingent upon your picked surrogate. This is a basic estimate that will give you sufficient space to set your assumptions accurately in regards to your surrogacy cost.

Why Approach a Surrogacy Agency?

The surrogacy procedure can be difficult at times, with many landmarks that lead to the final result on the delivery day. If you are planning for IVF and looking for a surrogate in your city, it is not an easy process to find the right candidate for your child's birth. The surrogacy agencies in the region can give you the best solutions available to plan your child's birth successfully. The professional team will work their best to match all the requirements that you have for your surrogate. They select the most qualified surrogate candidates available to plan the surrogacy. It can help you tackle the objectives and events throughout your journey so that you can concentrate on preparing for the arrival of your baby. They have a streamlined process of consulting about the process of surrogacy, various stages in the period starting from onboarding to the birth.

Why to choose Made in the USA Surrogacy Agency ?

At Made in the USA Surrogacy, you can utilise the services of a surrogate mother to carry your own biological child. The agency is devoted to bringing surrogate mothers and intended parents together. Our team supports you in complete expedition; from the day you begin thinking surrogacy to your meeting with the potential parents, and throughout your entire pregnancy to delivery.

Made in The USA Surrogacy offers 1-on-1 advice counselling on the surrogacy process from beginning to end. We have a strong selection criteria depending upon the fitness, health, old medical records, age limits, time devotion in the process, any criminal records etc. The agency spends thousands of dollars per month recruiting quality surrogate candidates; most of your surrogate agency fee funds the recruitment of your candidates.

Few best points to highlight our agency are:

- The agency's joining process is easy and quick.
- We have healthy and qualified surrogates to plan surrogacy.
- The surrogacy cost is lower and more affordable as compared to other agencies.
- A professional team to look after the process at every phase of the course.
- Realistic budgeting without any extras

Final Words

If you are planning for surrogacy in California, Made in the USA Surrogacy is the best surrogacy agency to approach. Everything you need to complete your surrogacy will be handled smoothly with proper care and ease here. Just sit back and relax as they are committed to helping you complete your family!